

advisor team missions such as Provincial Reconstruction Teams and Coalition Air Force Transition Teams enhance the advisor activities and improve inter-Service coordination. TCO was created to help troops in Iraq who were finding their convoys coming under attack from improvised explosive devices, rocket-propelled grenades, and small arms from insurgent forces. This publication provides a quick-reference guide for convoy commanders operating in theater who are using best practices and common procedures for convoy operations among the Services. All of these publications are designed to assist Servicemembers in accomplishing their missions.

In addition to developing MTTPs for the Warfighter, ALSA produces the Air Land Sea Bulletin (ALSB) three times a year. The ALSB usually has five to seven articles focused around a predetermined topic (such as unmanned aircraft or close air support) written by SMEs in the field. It offers warfighters the opportunity to share operational lessons learned and spread the word about recent developments in warfighting concepts, issues, and Service interoperability. The intent is good cross-Service flow of information among readers around the globe.

At present, ALSA is one of the many outstanding organizations contributing to the fight and helping our nation win its wars. For ALSA, there is always new work on the horizon due to the ever changing operational environment. To learn more about ALSA or to provide feedback, please see the ALSA CAC-enabled Web site at <https://www.alsa.mil> where you can download ALSA MTTPs and publications. These publications will soon be available on the Joint Doctrine, Education, and Training Electronic Information System (JDEIS) Web portal to enable detailed browsing and advanced search.

Cocaine and Instability in Africa: Lessons from Latin America and the Caribbean

Davin O'Regan examines narcotics trafficking in Latin America and the Caribbean for lessons that might be applied to Africa. He finds that the dollar value of cocaine trafficked through West Africa has risen rapidly, surpassing all other illicit commodities smuggled in the subregion. Experience from Latin America and the Caribbean shows that cocaine traffic contributes to dramatically higher levels of violence and instability. Given that co-opting government officials is the preferred method of Latin American traffickers, the author argues that African governments need to act urgently to protect the integrity of their counternarcotics institutions.

China Strategic Perspectives Series, No. 2

Civil-Military Relations in China: Assessing the PLA's Role in Elite Politics

by Michael Kiselycznyk and Phillip C. Saunders

The authors review the last 20 years of academic literature on the role of the People's Liberation Army (PLA) in Chinese elite politics. They identify five trends that are largely responsible for the PLA's markedly reduced role in elite politics: increasing PLA professionalism, bifurcation of civil and military elites, reduced PLA role in political institutions, reduced emphasis on political work within the PLA, and increased military budgets. Reviewing several models of Chinese civil-military relations against actual case studies, the authors find that although each model had some descriptive and explanatory power, none possessed strong predictive ability. Although China is a much more open society today, lack of reliable information continues to make the study of civil-military relations in China difficult.

The 71F Advantage: Applying Army Research Psychology for Health and Performance Gains

Edited by Paul T. Bartone, Ross H. Pastel, and Mark A. Vaitkus

71F is the area of concentration code assigned by the U.S. Army to the specialty of Research Psychology. Army research psychologists apply their extensive scientific expertise and training toward understanding, preserving, and enhancing the health, morale, and performance of Soldiers and their families. They do this in many ways and in many areas, but always with an empirical, evidence-based approach, and always with an applied focus.

This book, the first of its kind, is intended to provide a comprehensive overview of what Army research psychologists do. Chapters cover the diverse activity areas of 71Fs, from the neurophysiology of sleep, to traumatic brain injury, to leadership and organizational process, as well as several personal and historical accounts.

New Journal from NDU Press

PRISM

National Defense University is pleased to announce publication of issue 1, no. 4 (September 2010) of PRISM. This milestone issue—at 180 pages, the largest to date—marks the journal’s first complete year of existence. Feature articles cover topics such as diplomacy before and after conflict, an assessment of opportunities and risks as the war in Afghanistan enters a decisive phase, a call for a paradigm shift from nationbuilding to “netwar” in Afghanistan, as well as several other perspectives on the Afghanistan conflict. The “From the Field” article offers an upbeat view of Colombia’s successful irregular war against the FARC insurgency, while “Lessons Learned” presents the sobering experiences of an embedded Provincial Reconstruction Team in Iraq. Also included are enlightening interviews with the ambassadors to the United States of both Afghanistan and Pakistan. The issue closes with a review essay on civil-military relations.

PRISM explores, promotes, and debates emerging thought and best practices as civilian capacity increases in order to address challenges in stability, reconstruction, security, counterinsurgency, and irregular warfare. Published by NDU Press for the Center for Complex Operations, PRISM welcomes articles on a broad range of complex operations issues, especially civil-military integration. Manuscript submissions should be between 2,500 and 6,000 words and sent via email to prism@ndu.edu.
